

CARBON MAKES MOTOR KNOCK

Waste-Clogged Liver and Bowels Cause Thumping Head and Other Misery. Take "Cascarets"

Like carbon clogs and chokes a motor, so the excess bile in liver, and the constipated waste in the bowels, produce foggy brain, headache, sour, acid stomach, indigestion, sallow skin, sleepless nights, and bad colds. "Cascarets" rid the system of the toxins, acids, gases, and poisons which are keeping you upset. Take Cascarets and enjoy the nicest, gentlest laxative-cathartic you ever experienced. Cascarets never gripe, sicken, or cause inconvenience. They work while you sleep. They cost no little, but they are worth it.

KEEN INTEREST IN NEW

Representative of The Ferrolax Medicine Co. Arrives in Memphis To Hold Conference With Leading Drug-gists.

Rarely ever has any announcement caused such widespread comment as the one made yesterday in the Memphis papers regarding the discovery of Ferrolax. Public interest is even greater today since it was learned that a representative of the Ferrolax Co. arrived in the city last night, and is conferring with leading druggists with the view of placing this wonderful medicine on sale here.

Some of the best chemists have recognized in this medicine a new discovery and a scientific triumph in the medical world.

One of the most noteworthy features in connection with Ferrolax is the fact that hundreds of people from all over the country report big gains in weight and great improvement in every way after using the medicine.

Ferrolax is said to be a great success in treatment of stomach, liver and kidney disorders, and never fails to purify the blood, adding strength and vitality to every part of the system.

All arrangements for the sale of Ferrolax in Memphis will be perfected today, and the name of the firm securing the agency will be announced in tomorrow's papers.

Everywhere a Ferrolax agency has been established, big sales have been reported, so the druggist who succeeds in obtaining this agency will find it to be a very valuable one.

There are many people in this city who suffer from stomach, liver and kidney disorders, a general run-down condition, thin blood, constipation, sick headaches, etc., and who will be glad to have the opportunity of getting a medicine that has brought relief to thousands of others who suffered as they do.

MUSCLE SHOALS
HIGHWAY ROUTE
NOW IS SELED

Association Decides on Sheffield Line and Votes Against Prong Running South of the Tennessee River.

FLORENCE, Ala., Jan. 12 (Sp.)—The Memphis-Sheffield route for the Muscle Shoals highway from Memphis to Chattanooga was chosen by delegates at the Muscle Shoals Highway Association, in session here, late Wednesday afternoon. The delegates voted against a bifurcated route, selecting the one running by Sheffield and discharging the one running south of the Tennessee river.

More than a hundred delegates were in attendance from Montgomery, Huntsville, Decatur, Albany, Courtland, Leighton, Tusculuma, Sheffield, Florence and small towns on the proposed highway. Vice-president R. T. Simpson presided in the absence of the president.

A contest arose on behalf of Decatur and Albany to have two prongs to the highway circumnavigate Muscle Shoals and end at Huntsville. Dr. H. J. Williamson, president of the Alabama State Normal college here, made an able speech. The Messrs. Skeggs and others of Decatur battled for a bifurcated route. After much enthusiasm and a warrent by adherents of two routes the convention overwhelmingly voted against a split route and definitely settled the Muscle Shoals highway from Memphis via Moscow and Grand Junction, Tenn., Corinth and Juka, Miss.; Tusculuma, Sheffield, Florence and Rogersville, Athens, Huntsville, Scottsboro and Bridgeport, Ala., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Route Laid Out.

Already much of the highway is built. The government has built a post road from this city to Rogersville. The river has been bridged. This is one highway that will be built and maintained. It comes by the gun. The government nitrate plant at South Florence and the Wilson dam in the eastern part of this city and no mistake. It was made on the part of the delegates present in voting this route.

Entertain Delegates.

After the business meeting the delegates as the guests of the city were entertained at a banquet at Hotel Reeder. The leading features were the songs and music on this occasion and the humorous hits of the Huntsville Rotarians.

Each county has two representatives. The officers elected were Judge N. P. Tompkins, of Tusculuma, president; Hon. R. T. Simpson and Thomas M. Rogers, of this city, vice-presidents and W. S. Sharp, of Corinth, Miss., secretary.

The courthouse where the meeting was held was crowded and a finer or more representative group of business men rarely ever assembled together. The meeting was addressed by one of Memphis' able men, Hon. Thomas B. Kinz. Hon. Simpson, Keller, of Montgomery, state highway engineer, Hon. A. G. Patterson, county highway commissioner for the Eighth district. Strong endorsement of a $25,000,000 bond issue in Alabama was passed, with a certainty of carrying it.

Ysage Wins Honors
With The Cincinnati
Symphony Orchestra

BY GEORGE WILLIAMSON.

An excellent orchestra with a wonderful conductor here, customizes the average concert heard at the Lyric Wednesday night after the concert given by the Cincinnati Symphony organization. While the attendance was keenly disappointing, many vacant seats being noted, the ones who failed to hear the program have only occasion for regret, and no doubt when Eugene Ysage and his orchestra appear here there will be a great rush for a chance to hear the organization.

This was the first visit to Memphis of the Cincinnati orchestra and some how the full merit of this one of the oldest orchestras in the country was not fully appreciated. However, the lack of numbers was in a measure compensated for by the warmth of appreciation for the work of the conductor and his aggregation of about 55 performers.

Eugene Ysage has been in Memphis before, but only in the capacity of violinist. He was a delight then and won a warm place in the minds of those who love real art. As a conductor he added to his laurels and amply justified the many fine things that have been said and written of him. His artistry extends further than the wielding of the bow; he has the ability to organize and train others and imbue them with a sense of his own superior skill. The orchestra members last evening displayed talent which had been keenly and intelligently directed and they played at times as if one master mind was in supreme control of every fiber of their souls and bodies. It was this smoothness of touch and approach to perfection of execution which made their work so enjoyable. Of especial excellence was the string section, the concertmaster, Emil Heerman, proving himself most capable at all times, but his most meritorious work being the incidental solo in the "Romeo and Juliet" with effective accompaniment by the harp and the entire orchestra.

The program was a pleasing one, opening with Saint-Saens' "March Heroique" after which one of the most beautiful of all symphonies, Schuman's "Unfinished" B minor No. 3, was given. It has so many beauties and they are so varied that there is something to appeal to almost every taste. It was given a masterful rendition. Goulda's "Hymn to St. Cecilia" proved very delightful, after which Massenet's wonderfully descriptive "Scenes Pittoresques" gave every section of the organization a chance to display its wares, proving one of the best numbers of the entire program.

An unexpected pleasure was then afforded the audience, two numbers on the velle, with rare accompaniment, by Ferdinand Fiala, who was here recently in the Mary Garden concert. One of the numbers was Saint-Saens' "The Swan," while the other was equally as pretty. He is a fine artist and gave an encore.

The Rubenstein number, "Valse Caprice," furnished the printed program, but in response to the insistent demands of the audience the only encore of the evening by the orchestra was a Wagnerian overture, which was given fine rendition and brought forth hearty approval. It was one of the few numbers heard here in several years from the noted German composer and its reception was such as to suggest no loss of pleasure in listening to the works of that master whose music has been the subject of so much discussion since the late war.

The Memphis Musical bureau, which brought the Cincinnati company here, no doubt will find more folks anxious to hear it on its next visit.

BANK AIDS YOUTHS
TO BUY JERSEY COWS

VAZON CITY, Miss., Jan. 12 (Sp.)—The purchase of full-blooded Jersey heifers by the boys and girls of Holmes county, Mississippi, is being encouraged by the Bank of Lexington, Miss., which has set aside $10,000 to be loaned to members of a club club, who have the endorsement of County Agent D. P. Gibson. Parents of the boys and girls interested are patrons of a local creamery, and it is thought that the offer for the part of the bank will prove a decided stimulus to the dairy industry in Holmes county. A Duro-Jersey pig club was very successful several years ago.
